Enterprise Capex Software Provider, Finario, joins The Hackett Group's Market Intelligence Ecosystem

Darien, CT (May 14, 2025) -- Finario, the world's most trusted enterprise Capex software, has announced it has joined The Hackett Group's Market Intelligence ecosystem to further raise awareness of the importance of insight-rich data and process automation in effective capital expenditure management. The arrangement includes consulting, information exchange, and co-marketing. The Hackett Group® is a leader in digital transformation and AI consulting.

"The Hackett Group® is proud to be helping Finario with its strategy and positioning," said Andy Warzecha Principal and Advisory Program Practice Leader. "We have a unique perspective derived from our Executive Advisory clients and their business leadership roles that aid our ecosystem partners in better understanding what their companies are struggling with and are trying to achieve. For many of these companies, and companies like them, improving the performance and efficiency of their capital project portfolios is high on their agendas – particularly now."

"The Finario team is excited to be working with The Hackett Group® in identifying and developing go-to-market strategies that tap into the huge potential for industrial companies to elevate their capital project performance and optimize their portfolios to drive growth." said Jared Begun, Chief Customer Officer. "The combination of The Hackett Group's expertise in finance and the enterprise software space and our subject-matter authority in Capex should be very effective in producing results."
